Measures in response to the spread of COVID-19 disease

On 20 November 2020, the Vice-Chancellor decided on measures in response to the spread of COVID-19 disease. On 8 December 2020, the Vice-Chancellor decided to extend the decision of 20 November 2020 until 22 March 2021. This decision supplements the decision of 8 December 2020.

During the period 23 December 2020 – 24 January 2021, the following applies at Uppsala University, as a temporary tightening of the rules decided for the period until 22 March 2021:

- All teaching and assessment will be delivered remotely. Exemptions to allow individual teaching tasks or assessments to take place in person may be granted by the chair of a faculty board/disciplinary domain board if exceptional grounds exist for an exemption.
- Students are urged preferably to study independently at home. Those who need to be on University premises for their individual studies must not gather in groups of more than four persons.
- Staff must work from home unless their duties manifestly require their physical presence at the workplace or their line manager permits them to work at the workplace for some other reason.

The decision in this matter was taken by the undersigned Vice-Chancellor after consultation with the Management Council, following a presentation of the matter by Chief Legal Officer Per Abrahamsson.
