Stress management for coworkers

Goal
We want to give the participants increased knowledge of stress, understanding of which factors contribute to their own stress and guidance in implementing the changes that are needed to feel better.

Target group
Coworkers at Uppsala University who feel that stress affects them in a negative way and who wish to gain more knowledge, support and tools in changing their situation and find a better balance between work, leisure and private life.

Content
- Basic stress theory
- Balancing stress and recovery
- What contributes to my own stress
- Goal setting and change
- Concerns, anxieties and thinking errors
- Difference between setback and relapse

Arrangement
Content is based on CBT (Cognitive Behavioral Therapy) and ACT (Acceptance and Commitment Therapy). The course is practical and based on the participants' active participation, among other things, in the form of home assignments. The course is concrete and focused on actions here and now.

6 group meetings each 2 hours.

Lecturer
Anders Herrmann, Licensed psychologist, PhD

Location
Previa, Bredgränd 6, 3rd floor, Uppsala

How to register
Registration is made via Medarbetarportalen.

Conditions
The course can be rebooked or canceled free of charge up to 1 week before the course starts. Then 100% of the course cost is charged. Previa reserves the right to cancel at too few participants.
